07/12/2017: Aquafarm 2018 just two months away

The second edition of Aquafarm 2018 is getting closer and it is based on three general subjects: marine and freshwater aquaculture, vertical farming and off soil crop, algae

The event highlights the intersection and synergies among them.

AQUA FARM

15-16 FEBRUARY 2018

2ND EDITION

PORDENONE EXHIBITION CENTER
VENICE AREA - ITALY

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE & EXHIBITION FOR AQUACULTURE, ALGACULTURE, VERTICAL FARMING AND FISHING INDUSTRY

Aquaculture

The highlights: the optimisation and personalisation of the feed recipes; the new biological and chemical-physical technologies for the disinfection and farming water treatment; new technical for the cryopreservation at low temperature and their potential for the enlargement of the market to the export of the Italian farming fish.

On the scientific innovation side, Aquafarm will host the presentation by the Maritime Research Institute of Bergen focused on the results of the improvement genetic program of some salmonid species by using editing genomic techniques denominated CRISPR-CAS.

Vertical farming

Geelen

On the vertical farming and off soil crop stream, an original focus will be placed on the debate related to overcoming the concept of bio due to the faster progress of the off soil crop and the production of sustainable food. We will dispel the myth about the tasteless of the vertical farming products. At Aquafarm 2018 you could assist in the realisation of a vertical farming.

Algaculture

On the algae field, we are at the dawn of a new era focused on the cost efficiency and the richness of useful substances, innovations that will be examined at Aquafarm. From the raw material for the green chemistry to the nutrients for feed, from the active principle of the nutraceutical to the utilisation of energy and depuration.

About The Aquaculturists

The Aquaculturists blog is part of our International Aquafeed magazine.

While the monthly magazine covers aquafeed issues in-depth, the Aquaculturists takes a lighter approach.

Our columnists have a keen eye for the most interesting, relevant and lets face it, bizarre aquaculture stories from across the world.

Each weekday we search for top-notch news and package it for your perusal in one neat daily digest.

We have welcomed over 34,000 unique visitors this past month! Not to mention that we've passed the big 1 million on total views! Coming up to 1.3 million views is very exciting for us and we hope that you are enjoying the content.

Please feel free to leave comments on the posts or share away on your social media!
