AquaFarm, the search engine for aquaculture

Pordenone, 6 December 2019. In three year AquaFarm has become the event of reference for Italian, European and Mediterranean basin aquacultures. In the 2020 edition (which will take place next February 19th and 20th) the results of the research projects funded by Horizon 2020, Erasmus +, InterReg and FEAMP will be highlighted.

Technological innovation inspired by applied sectoral research must and will have to lead more and more towards environmental, economic and social sustainability of aquaculture, acquiring a greater significance as it is associated to the production of highly nutritional foods. In this case, in fact, other factors necessarily come into play, such as quality, food safety, consumer protection and its correct information.

AquaFarm has always devoted considerable space for research activities: this year a whole session will be focused on it. Coordinators and partners of different projects will present the results directly applicable in farming or aimed at optimizing the supply chain processes. Many of the Italian Universities, Research Institutes, Associations and Companies, also present as exhibitors in the event, are active partners of research consortia funded under the Horizon 2020, Erasmus +, InterReg or national programmes.

The appointment is set for the afternoon of 19 February 2020 at Pordenone Fiere.
